THE INTERPLAY OF INDEMNITY, INSURANCE, AND LIMITATION OF LIABILITY FROM A RISK MANAGER'S PERSPECTIVE

Each year, nearly 10 billion serving units of Red Bull are consumed. It might not literally give you wings, but it certainly gives you energy... Behind the drink's success lies a strong brand image and a company known for "giving wings to people and ideas" and promoting, amongst other things, high-energy, extreme sports. Simon Keshishian, VP, Risk Management & Risk Counsel has a tall task to manage the risk. This keynote will address the Interplay of Indemnity, Insurance, and Limitation of Liability from a Risk Manager's viewpoint. Simon will also delve into potential pitfalls and share his suggestions for success as well as anecdotal stories you won't want to miss.

ESG -WHAT THEY'RE SAYING IN THE BOARDROOM.

The same way, nearly two decades ago, cybersecurity started to work its way into executives' daily lives, now ESG is on a similar track. Company leaders are now faced with supporting their organizations in addressing tangible risks associated with disclosure requirements, stakeholder's expectations and "shareholder activism". But what matters to the board... are they aligned with the company, or do they have other expectations and direction when it comes to these growing risks? Join us and listen to seasoned executive and board member Bavan Holloway share her candid perspective on what companies should be focusing on relative to ESG.

DATA AND ANALYTICS: HOW TO KEEP PACE WITH OUR CONSTANTLY EVOLVING WORLD.

As risk professionals we are challenged with increased risk exposures at every juncture. It's time to embrace the evolution of data and analytics to ensure the sustainability of our organizations. This session will illustrate and explore the importance of evolving our use of data and analytics: From static, disconnected analysis with minimal value in decision making to using dynamic, technology driven analysis and risk tolerance levels to quantify risk and lend significant value in setting strategic direction. This is not your father's tutorial on "Benchmarking 101". This session will explore HOW evolved data and analytics can truly empower risk management and WHY they should be a cornerstone of your corporate strategies.

THE SUSTAINABILITY DILEMMA: ADVANCING YOUR ESG COMMITMENTS WHILE MINIMIZING RISK

As many organizations increasingly seek to achieve environmentally friendly measures to improve sustainability as part of corporate ESG efforts, risk managers need to be the ones to ask, "What new hazards are being introduced by these ESG measures?" and then help define the right means of achieving them without adding risk. In this session, learn from Dr. Lou Gritzko, vice president and manager of research at FM Global, about the blind spots and unintended consequences that catch many organizations off guard despite the best of intentions, as they pursue their sustainability objectives. You'll discover practical ways on where to invest time and effort to reduce risk in a meaningful way that will make your organizations more risk-conscious and resilient while supporting sound ESG principles.

NAVIGATING THE UNKNOWN: LEADING DIAMOND PRINCESS THROUGH AN UNPRECEDENTED COVID CRISIS

In early February 2020, Princess Cruises' Diamond Princess cruise ship -- along with its 2,666 passengers and 1,045 crew members -- became the epicenter of headline news across the globe as one of the first global outbreaks of the novel coronavirus (COVID-19) outside of China. Gordon Ho was part of the Princess leadership team directing the response to this unprecedented crisis. Using this extraordinary real-world example, Gordon takes the audience on a journey into the crisis through stories, pictures, and content. Key principles of leadership and emergency response will be discussed in detail, giving the audience deep insight into how crisis management theory presented itself in practice. This is a unique opportunity to hear what it is like to manage a serious, extended crisis from the front line.

While no two incidents are the same, the insights provided, and real-life lessons learned are invaluable to anyone who leads teams or has the responsibility to prepare for a crisis.

THE 4 PILLARS OF THE OWNERSHIP MINDSET LOVE, PURPOSE, PRESENCE, PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY

Speaker:

Todd Musselman

Leadership Trainer,
Motivational Speaker - Timberline Leadership

One of the primary determinants of performance is an individual's mindset. In working with thousands of individuals, it's been our experience that people operate in one of two distinct mindsets: either the victim mindset or the ownership mindset. The results we create from each state are vastly different.

When we are operating in the victim mindset, reacting to our circumstances, our energy is low and the results we produce are minimal. When we are operating in the ownership mindset, creating our circumstances, our energy is high and the results we produce are powerful.

Have you ever considered how you are being at any moment in time as a leader, employee, partner, parent; are you operating in the victim mindset or the ownership mindset? What choices are you making as a result of your mindset and what effect does that have on your leadership and performance? How can you shift your mindset to make more powerful choices and increase your likelihood of producing greater results?

Whether you are a business owner, CEO, emerging leader, sales professional, coach, manager, employee, volunteer, performer, spouse, parent, or student, the mindset you choose in any given situation shapes your life and those with whom you are connected. Please join us in exploring how you can create powerful results by choosing the ownership mindset more consistently.

Of Counsel - Jackson Lewis P.C.

Sean Paisan who will cover best practices for handling Cal/OSHA inspections, including a discussion of the following topics that may affect company exposure during an inspection:

- Understanding inspection triggers
- Reporting serious injuries and fatalities
- Defending Cal/OSHA interviews and site visits
- Responding to a Cal/OSHA document request
- Responding to the notice of intent to classify citation as serious (Form 1BY)
- Citations and appeals

Sean will present these topics from his unique perspective having worked for the Los Angeles County District Attorney's Office and the United States Attorney's Office before moving into private practice where he defended wrongful death and serious injury claims to start his career. Throughout the presentation, Sean will offer real world examples of how mishandling a Cal/OSHA inspection could create exposure for serious and willful claims in the workers' comp arena, third party liability in the civil arena, and even criminal liability, not to mention Cal/OSHA citations.

HISTORY HELPS SHAPE THE FUTURE. A PANEL OF RIMS' BRIGHTEST MINDS!

The world has recently experienced some of its darkest times with natural disasters, climate change, mass shootings, and the devastating pandemic. Risk management plays a significant role in combating such events through prevention, mitigation, structured insurance programs, and/or alternative financing mechanisms. During this session you will hear from highly experienced and legendary risk management professionals with additional time reserved for your questions. How have these accomplished experts managed their organizations risk during these uncertain times? What lessons can these former RIMS presidents share to assist in shaping a brighter future for your own organizations? Come prepared with questions about your industry and profession as these experts share their knowledge. This is your chance to learn how their experience can help guide your path forward. Do not forget your sunglasses! You will be blinded by the talent on stage.

UKRAINE, CANADIAN DROUGHT, AND BEER - HOW SUPPLY CHAIN LINKS THESE HOT TOPICS

Crack open a cold beer provided by #RIMSWRC and hear how critical supply chain is to a world favorite beverage. As former CFO of United Malt Group, Amy Spanik was the first line of defense for maintaining adequate risk measures for one of the world's largest malt producers. Find out how a top executive overcomes drought, war, and increased demand during one of the most complex supply chain crises of our time.

Speaker:

More Networking = More Chances to Win!

As a RIMS Western Regional Conference attendee, you have the chance to win RIMS Coin (raffle tickets). What is RIMS Coin? This is conference currency that will enter you in drawings for $1,500+ in prizes! The big question is, how do you earn RIMS Coin? Well, there are a variety of ways! You will receive one coin just for registering. Sky's the limit when you network with our title sponsor Marsh & Oliver Wyman or visit any vendor booth. Be sure to ask questions, speakers can also hand out RIMS Coins. Turn in your RIMS Coin raffle tickets at the registration desk as drawings will be held throughout the conference for multiple opportunities to win!

(Don't forget your name on your tickets so we know who to call to the podium!)
