8:00 AM - 8:30 AM

VELVET BALLROOM

FUTURE RISK MANAGEMENT PROFESSIONALS: DISRUPTORS OR DISRUPTED?

Speaker: Carol Fox - ARM Vice President Strategic Initiatives, RIMS

Former New York Yankee's catcher Yogi Berra made the noteworthy observation that "The future ain't what it used to be". His adage conjures up more than just a smile in our current disruptive environment. Today isn't what we thought it would be ten years ago, and the world may not be anything like futurists' predictions for the next decade. Should Yogi's saying be used as a defining principle for 21st century risk management? The speaker will explore what emerging disruptions may mean for the evolution of risk management and future risk management professionals.

8:30 AM - 9:30 AM

VELVET BALLROOM

YOUR PRETTY FACE IS NOT GOING TO GET YOU FAR

Speaker: Kim Le - Founder & CEO, A2Q2

Join in the adventure, pitfalls and triumphs of an immigrant female entrepreneur in Silicon Valley. Share in the life lessons of personal and professional (lack of) risk management as Kim recounts stories from living under a plastic tarp in a refugee camp to growing up homeless to losing a job when 8-months pregnant to starting a company when 5-months pregnant. Despite the best laid plans, our life journeys are full of moments that define and shape us in unimaginable ways.

9:30 AM - 10:15 AM

VELVET BALLROOM

5 KEYS TO BUSINESS MODEL INNOVATION

Speaker: Rob Bauer - Managing Director Commercial Strategy & Innovation, AIG

What does a digital handshake, or fist-bump, look like in the new economy? What do workers need to hear from employers in order to don wearables in the workplace? Inspired by a 9-market commercial and consumer study on digital trust completed recently with Kleiner Perkins, come learn about 5 keys to business model innovation in the new economy.

VELVET BALLROOM

ADAPTING TO DYNAMIC REGULATORY AND SECURITIES LITIGATION LANDSCAPES

Speakers: Anne Corona - Senior Managing Director, Aon; Jordan Eth - Partner, Morrison & Foerster; Will Fahey - SVP, Berkshire Hathaway Specialty Insurance; Todd Greeley - SVP Executive & Professional Lines Claim, Berkshire Hathaway Specialty Insurance; Jim Maroulis - Senior Corporate Counsel, Oracle Corporation

As regulatory and securities litigation trends rapidly evolve, there are known and unknown implications for financial and publicly traded organizations. Expert panelists will explore these dynamics to offer risk managers insights about what the evolving focal points are and how best to mitigate these risks.

10:00 AM - 10:30 AM

REDWOOD

NETWORKING BREAK

CONCURRENT SESSION 1:

10:30 AM - 11:30 AM

RITA

UNDERSTANDING THE FUNDAMENTALS OF BLOCKCHAIN TECHNOLOGY

Speakers: Rob Bauer - Managing Director Commercial Strategy & Innovation, AIG; Laura Langone - Senior Director Risk and Insurance, PayPal; Drew Ostro - Principal, Oliver Wyman; Esther Becker - Principal, Oliver Wyman Actuarial Consulting, Inc.

Confusion around Bitcoin and Blockchain? Unclear on building a Blockchain and the opportunities and risks associated with this new technology? If so this is a great session for you. Join us for this interactive panel discussion of the advent of the technology, its various forms – including their pros and cons - and the risk issues surrounding Blockchain – both its potential as a risk mitigator and risk creator. Blockchain is an operating system and can be built for business in multi-industries. We will discuss how it is being employed at PayPal for the payment of goods and services and in “smart” insurance products pioneered in a collaboration between AIG and IBM. The session should provide attendees a good primer on the topic generally and a perspective on the applicability and usefulness of Blockchain through the presentation of tangible examples.

JOINT SESSION: HOW CLOSE CAN YOU GET TO MARIJUANA WITHOUT BEING BURNED?

Speakers: Robin Azevedo - VP Business Development, Sedgwick; Mike Aberle - SVP & Program Marketing, Next Wave Insurance Services; Markie Davis - ARM, CPCU, Manager, Employee Benefits and Risk Management, State of Colorado; Debby Goldsberry - Executive Director, Magnolia Oakland; Benjamin Tievsky - Associate, Pillsbury Winthrop Shaw Pittman LLP

The legal and regulatory status of medical and recreational marijuana in this country is changing rapidly. Although it has recently been legalized in California – one of the largest economies in the world – federal narcotics laws continue to apply, creating a landscape that can be tricky to navigate. This panel, featuring an underwriter of cannabis insurance products, the Risk Manager of the State of Colorado, a policyholder-side insurance attorney, and a California-based distributor, will explore risk management issues faced by businesses participating (directly or indirectly) in the legal cannabis space, employers, and health care providers.

NETWORKING LUNCH

12:30 PM - 1:30 PM

VELVET BALLROOM

INTEGRATING AI INTO ERM

Speakers: Yvette Connor - Chief Risk Officer, Focal Point; Tom Easthope - Director, ERM Microsoft Corporation

Given the remarkable pace at which machine learning and AI are evolving, this session will touch on the ongoing developments between technology and policy leaders about the ethics, legalities and real life disruptions of handing over of the most routine of tasks to "machines". We will discuss how organizations now need to focus on the potential for present-day and near-term AI risks and ERM's role in this dialogue. Lastly, we will look at opportunities for ERM and compliance functions to begin using these simple forms of tools today.

NO PILOT? NO DRIVER? NO PROBLEM. AUTONOMOUS TECHNOLOGY: WHO'S DRIVING RISK?

Speakers: Kate Browne - SVP, SwissRe; Jose Heftye - Managing Director, Marsh; Allen Kwan - Business Development Manager, Swiss Re Corporate Solutions; Dan Smedley - Senior Manager, Business Risk & Insurance, Google

This panel explores what happens when you get a risk manager, broker, and insurance claims manager in the room together to discuss autonomous technology. The panel discussion will navigate real-life existing innovative and emerging technology and how it impacts and changes risk drivers. Building programs and coverages for new risk exposures, while providing room to cover future innovation can be tricky... but being well-informed will put you in the driver's seat.

8:00 AM - 9:00 AM

VELVET BALLROOM

UNCONSCIOUS BIAS

Speakers: Myrna Chao - NA Retirement Talent Leader, Willis Towers Watson; Darrell Brown - Chief Claims Officer, Sedgwick
Research shows that people are more motivated and engaged when they feel respected and valued for their contributions, and that companies with a more diverse workforce perform better financially. But it is not enough to simply have diversity – we must also strive for inclusion. Eliminating and minimizing unconscious bias is fundamental to fostering inclusivity. We used to think of bias as the kind that is intentional. Current research confirms that most of our bias is actually unconscious – it arises automatically from the “short cuts” our brains take to process information quickly and efficiently. Unconscious bias is the way all of our brains work. This discussion is not a “cure”, but rather an effort to bring awareness, and to provide some vocabulary and an opportunity to discuss issues that may arise daily with our peers. Awareness of our unconscious biases is foundational to creating an inclusive workplace.

Taking care of people is at the heart of everything we do. Caring counts.™
